Policy on Psychological Services in (hereinafter referred to as the Policy)

NAO "Al-Farabi Kazakh National University" (hereinafter referred to as the University) is based on a number of laws, regulations, developments related to the problems of modern youth and the need for specially organized socio-psychological work in educational institutions aimed at the socialization of students, their integration into society, the formation of various aspects of their social identity (professional, gender, civil, national, etc.). The legal basis is the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated July 27, 2007 "On Education", the resolution of the Supreme Council of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated June 8, 1994 "On ratification of the Convention on the Rights of the Child", as well as these Rules.

The organization and coordination of psychological support activities are carried out through the following normative documents:

1. Development strategies of the Republic of Kazakhstan until 2050: New principles of social policy — social guarantees and personal responsibility.

Knowledge and professional skills are the key guidelines of the modern system of education, training and retraining of personnel.

A consistent and predictable foreign policy is the promotion of national interests and the strengthening of regional and global security.

The new Kazakhstan patriotism is the basis for the success of our multinational and multi—confessional society.

2. The concept of social development of the Republic of Kazakhstan until 2030:

the formation of a competitive and accessible education system that provides citizens with qualifications in demand on the labor market, the opportunity to study throughout their lives; the development of a targeted and comprehensive social protection system based on psycho-emotional growth; the expansion of information,

- expansion of information, cultural and sports space, providing opportunities for the spiritual and physical development of young people.

3. Strategic Development Plan of the Republic of Kazakhstan until 2025;

- ensuring social well-being.
- ensuring minimum social standards;
- strengthening the targeting of social assistance and modernization of the social service system

4. National projects of the Republic of Kazakhstan (10 national projects).

- National project "Quality Education "Educated Nation".
- The national project "Ulttyk rukhani zhangyru".
- National project "Technological Breakthrough through digitalization, science and innovation".

5. The Charter of the University and the development program of the NAO "Al-Farabi Kazakh National University" for 2022-2026.

- increasing the contribution of university science to the socio-economic development of the country.
- creating an effective corporate governance model and ensuring the sustainable development of the University.

6. Sustainable Development Goals.

- social sustainability.
- social impact.

Analysis of the current situation

During the reporting period, the socio-psychological service of the university was actively functioning at the Al-Farabi Kazakh National University, individual psychological consultations were conducted for students with psychological problems. Psychological assistance was provided for 17 students.

Training seminars were held for students, including: "Ludomania, consequences, causes and symptoms" and "My choice" a training seminar on the prevention of smoking and alcoholism, organized by the socio-psychological service sector together with the center "Social Project Management" within the framework of the project "Healthy lifestyle" of the Department of Youth Policy of the city Almaty (01-16.11.2022).
